Marge Schott

President and Chief Executive Officer

Entertainment has been the top priority during Mrs. Schott's tenure as owner of the Reds. A native and sixth-generation resident of Cincinnati, Mrs. Schott was a Limited Partner in the team beginning in 1981, and then became the General Partner of the ownership group on December 21, 1984. She became President and Chief Executive Officer July 8, 1985.

Mrs. Schott has helped bring back the excitement of Reds' baseball to Riverfront Stadium. She has provided the leadership and financial support needed to build a winning team, while keeping ticket prices among the lowest in the major leagues. The Reds have drawn more than 20 million fans to Riverfront in her 10 years as the club's principal owner. Season ticket sales have reached new team highs.

Mrs. Schott saw her dream come true in 1990 when her Reds went "wire-to-wire" to win the National League Western Division championship and then went on to capture the N.L. pennant, followed by a stunning World Series sweep over Oakland.

Mrs. Schott led the Reds' World Series victory parade at Fountain Square in downtown Cincinnati and she headed the team's contingent honored by President George Bush at the White House following the Series.

In addition to the enjoyment of watching the Reds on the field, Mrs. Schott has had some thrills away from the Stadium as well.

In 1989, she had lunch at the White House with President Bush; was a special honoree at a Women in Business luncheon during the President's Inauguration Week festivities; and has made two baseball goodwill visits to Japan, representing Cincinnati and the Reds.

Among other highlights were a 1988 visit to the Vatican, where she presented the Pope with a Reds' jacket; a feature interview on the "60 Minutes" TV show; and a salute by Savvy magazine as the operator of one of the 40 largest businesses in the country headed by a woman.

In December, 1986, she was among 85 women entrepreneurs from all over the country who were honored by President Ronald Reagan at a White House reception. Earlier that year, she was named Woman of the Year by the American Legion Auxiliary at its national convention. Mrs. Schott was singled out for having made significant contributions to community life. She was inducted into the Communiplex Women's Hall of Fame for women in sports in 1987 and received an honorary degree from Maryville College in St. Louis in 1991.

Mrs. Schott was inducted into the Ohio Women's Hall of Fame in November, 1985, for her achievements in business, industry and athletics. A year earlier, she was honored as one of the 1984 Women of the Year in Cincinnati. She is well-known for her role as hostess for the Reds' Rally, a major fundraiser for the Children's Heart Association at Children's Hospital, and for her work with the famed Cincinnati Zoo. She is the Honorary Chairman of the Zoo's Education Program.

Mrs. Schott became a businesswoman by necessity when her husband, Charles, died in 1968, leaving her in charge of a business empire that included such divergent holdings as an auto agency, cement, truck and brick companies and real estate. She has since added holdings of her own.

It took her three and one-half years to convince General Motors to make her the first U.S. woman ever to be awarded a major metropolitan area G.M. dealership. Later, she became the first woman ever named to the board of trustees of the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. Schott is the only woman currently involved in primary ownership of a major league baseball team.

James G. Bowden, IV

General Manager

Jim Bowden, one of the brightest young minds in the game of baseball, is entering his fourth season as General Manager of the Cincinnati Reds.

After becoming the youngest general manager in baseball history (age 31) when he assumed his current duties on October 16, 1992, he has helped guide the Reds to first place finishes in the National League's Central division in each of the past two seasons.

In 1995, at the age of 34, Jim also became the youngest GM in baseball history to guide his club into the League Championship Series.

Since his arrival to the Reds, Jim has proven to be a man of action when it comes to addressing the needs of the club. In the heat of last year's pennant race, Jim made two blockbuster deals within two days, which brought to the Reds some much-needed starting pitching. David Wells was acquired from the Detroit Tigers, and pitchers Dave Burba and Mark Portugal from the San Francisco Giants. The threesome combined to win 18 games, as the Reds pulled away and finished the season nine games in front of the second place Houston Astros.

During the pennant race of 1994 when catcher Joe Oliver was injured, Jim acquired Eddie Taubensee from the Astros, and one month later, in need of a lead-off hitter and left-handed bat, picked up Deion Sanders from the Atlanta Braves. Following the '94 campaign, Jim was rewarded with a contract extension through the year 1999.

Known for his aggressive nature when seeking talent, Jim has acquired a great number of talented players through trades, free agency, and waiver claims.

Players acquired by Jim via a trade or waiver claim include Pete Schourek (2nd in the 1995 NL Cy Young Award voting), Bret Boone (1995 NL's top-rated defensive second baseman), Hector Carrasco, Johnny Ruffin, Mike Kelly, and Curtis Goodwin. Jim has also acquired many high profile players, including John Smiley, Kevin Mitchell, Benito Santiago, Roberto Kelly, Tony Fernandez, Jeff Brantley, and Erik Hanson. A man of vision for the future, Jim took a chance late in 1994 and signed Ron Gant in June, after the slugger had been released by the Atlanta Braves when he broke his leg in a motorcycle accident.

Following the 1995 season, Jim signed both Barry Larkin and Reggie Sanders to long term deals, which will keep both players in Reds uniforms through the end of the century.

A strong advocate of maintaining a competitive balance within the organization, Jim has continued his efforts in building the club's player development and scouting departments. In 1995, the Reds produced the best overall record of any other major league farm system in baseball, posting a combined 397-301 record (.569), as three Reds' affiliates made their league playoffs. In 1994, the Reds had five of their minor league affiliates qualify for the playoffs, with three earning league championships.

Jim began his career in major league baseball in 1984 with the Pittsburgh Pirates, and spent 1985-88 as the club's Assistant Director of Player Development and Scouting. In 1989, he moved to the New York Yankees as Assistant to the Senior Vice President - Baseball Operations. In 1990 he joined the Reds as an Administrative Assistant for both scouting and player development. In August of 1991 he was promoted to Director of Player Development. After being named General Manager in 1992, he also assumed the duties of President and CEO of the Reds during Mrs. Schott's absence from the club.

A Boston, MA and Boothbay Harbor, ME native, Jim was born May 18, 1961. He's a 1979 graduate of Weston (MA) High School and earned his Bachelor's degree in Business Administration and Communications in 1983 from Rollins College (FL).

Jim and his wife, Amy, reside in Anderson Township, and have three sons: J.B., Tyler and Chad. They also have two dogs: a golden retriever named Brianna Faith and a labrador retriever named Prime Time.

History of the Reds

The history of professional baseball begins in Cincinnati, where the "ancestors" of the current Cincinnati Reds, the Red Stockings, began play more than a century ago.

That first professional team, led by Harry and George Wright, played on a spot where Union Terminal on Cincinnati's near West Side now stands. Its first recorded game was a practice contest against a "Picked Nine" from Cincinnati, April 17, 1869, which was won by the Red Stockings, 24-15. After six more games of this first "pre-season," the Reds embarked on their famous tour. The first regular game was scheduled against the Antioch Nine on May 31, but that became the first rainout in professional baseball history. The first official game took place the next day, June 1, 1869 as the Red Stockings defeated the Mansfield Independents, 48-14.

That first Red Stockings team, organized by Newport, KY jeweler Harry Wright, was fabulous. During the first two years of play, the team went 130 consecutive games without a loss before the Brooklyn Atlantics finally beat the Red Stockings in June of 1870.

In 1876, the National League was founded and the Red Stockings became a charter member. The club dropped out of the league in 1881 for 9 years because the league would not permit sale of beer in the park. The Red Stockings joined the American Association for the 1882-89 seasons, but rejoined the N.L. in 1890. Cincinnati also had a team in the Union Association in 1884.

The turn of the century saw one of the most colorful men ever associated with the team take over the presidency of the club. August "Garry" Herrmann was the club president from 1902 until 1927, when he was forced to retire because of blindness.

A host of famous players paraded through the Herrmann regime. Frank "Noodles" Hahn was a standout pitcher and Cy Seymour won the Reds' first batting championship, hitting .377 in 1905, a mark that still stands in the Cincinnati record book.

Later came Edd Roush, an all-time great center fielder, and Heinie Groh, the famous third baseman who used a bottle bat. They formed the nucleus of Cincinnati's first pennant winner in 1919 and then beat the Chicago White Sox in the World Series.

Players such as Eppa Rixey, who holds the club record with 179 career wins, and Bubbles Hargrave, the first catcher ever to win a batting title, kept the Reds in the running during the '20s but there wasn't another pennant until 1939.

After Herrmann resigned control of the club in the late '20s, Sidney Weil assumed command. When the depression crippled Weil, Powel Crosley purchased the Reds, more for civic purposes than any other cause. It was strongly rumored that the Cincinnati franchise might be moved and Crosley felt that the city needed a major league baseball team.

Crosley, the famous radio tycoon, was sold on the franchise by Larry MacPhail, the club's general manager. MacPhail, who had made a name for himself at Columbus, OH, was one of the early promoters and opened up a new era of baseball when the Reds became the first team to play at night. Lights were installed at Crosley Field and the Reds and Phillies met in the first night game on May 24, 1935.

Two years later, a new chapter opened in Cincinnati as Warren Giles was named the club's general manager. Although the Reds finished last in Giles' first year, the team began to move in 1938, jumping to fourth. By 1939, the club had matured into the National League's best. The Reds won back-to-back pennants in '39 & '40 and captured the World Series in 1940, beating the Detroit Tigers in an exciting seven-game series.

Some of the great names of Reds' history were on those clubs. Paul Derringer, Bucky Walters and Johnny Vander Meer were well-known pitchers. Ernie Lombardi, Frank McCormick and Walters were Most Valuable Player winners.

World War II and age caught up with the Reds in the '40s and the club began rebuilding in the late '40s and early '50s. Ewell Blackwell became the first pitcher to pitch in six consecutive All-Star games. Ted Kluszewski was signed off the Indiana University campus.

Giles left the Reds in 1951 and was named president of the National League. His successor was Gabe Paul, who put together a powerful hitting team in the mid-fifties. The Reds nearly won the pennant in 1956, losing by two games to Brooklyn, but the fans fell in love with this team. The Reds hit the million mark in paid attendance for the first time and in '56 they tied the NL record for the most team home runs with 221. Birdie Tebbets was named Manager of the Year.

Manager Fred Hutchinson took command of the Reds in 1959 and in '61 they startled many baseball "experts" by winning the NL pennant. Frank Robinson, who had been Rookie of the Year in 1956, was Most Valuable Player, and Vada Pinson nearly won the batting title. Under Hutch, who died of cancer in 1964, the Reds remained close. They won 98 games in 1962, but finished third. They came within one game in 1964.

Rumors spread in 1966 that the Reds would leave Cincinnati. They were silenced quickly, however, when a group of businessmen, headed by Francis L. Dale, purchased the Reds and pledged allegiance to the city with a 40-year lease, thus assuring construction of a new stadium.

The group named Bob Howsam general manager in 1967, and six years later he moved up to the club presidency. Sparky Anderson became the manager in 1970 and he guided the team for nine seasons, leading them to five Western Division titles; four National League pennants; and two World Championships.

The Reds moved into Riverfront Stadium June 30, 1970 after a long association with Crosley Field, and before that Redland Field. A total of 4,543 games were played at the old park which was officially dedicated April 11, 1912. It was Redland Field then and became Crosley Field after Crosley purchased the Reds.

Riverfront Years

Reds fans said goodbye to Crosley Field and the first century of baseball's oldest professional team on June 24, 1970. Six days later, a little over two years after the first spadeful of dirt was turned, Riverfront Stadium opened to a crowd of over 50,000 cheering fans.

From 1970, when the team won its first Division title, through 1979, when it won its sixth divisional crown, the Reds won more games and more titles than any other major league team.

The Reds piled up 953 regular season victories in the 10 years of the 1970s, an average of 95.3 per season, with a .593 winning percentage and an impressive mark of consistency.

Reds fans saw a total of 12 championships by the Reds, six Western Division titles (1970-72-73-75-76-79); four National League titles (1970-72-75-76); and back-to-back World Championships in 1975 and 1976.

General Manager Bob Howsam put together this "Team of the '70s" that earned its nickname of the "Big Red Machine." It was a team that excited fans everywhere, building a national following and attracting 21 million fans to Riverfront Stadium in the 10-year period.

At the heart of the team were four individuals — Johnny Bench, Joe Morgan, Tony Perez and Pete Rose — who were totally different in makeup, style and personality, but who were on a common path pointed toward the Hall of Fame. Among them, they provided power, speed, defense, clutch hitting and stability. Bench (1989) was the first to be inducted into the Hall at Cooperstown, followed by Morgan (1990).

The Reds so dominated the National League that they won MVP titles six times in an eight-year span. Bench won in 1970 and 1972, when he led the NL in both homers and RBI; Rose in 1973, when he led the league in hitting for the third time; Morgan in 1975 and 1976, only the second NL player ever to win two consecutive seasons; and George Foster in 1977, when he set club records with 52 homers and 149 RBI. Perez was never MVP, but earned an unmatched reputation for clutch hitting. Bench and Perez ranked 1-2 in the majors in RBI for the '70s.

Surrounding them were outstanding players such as Dave Concepcion, who teamed with Morgan to give the Reds a double play combination whose members each won five Gold Gloves; Ken Griffey, who batted .307 in 9 years with the Reds; Foster, who averaged 32 homers and 107 RBI over a seven-year period; and Cesar Geronimo a four-time Gold Glove winner.

Other memorable moments came in 1978, when Rose hit in 44 straight games, a modern NL record, and Tom Seaver pitched a no-hitter.

In 1981, Seaver became only the fifth pitcher in major league history to reach 3,000 career strikeouts. It was also a year in which the Reds had the best overall record in baseball, but did not qualify for post-season play because of a split-season, finishing second in both the first half and second half races.

The 1983 season marked the return to the Reds of Bob Howsam, architect of the "Team of the '70s." A year later, Howsam brought back Rose, who had been away for nearly six years, as player/manager.

Ownership of the team changed hands in December, 1984, when local businesswoman Marge Schott took control as general partner.

Riverfront Stadium was the site of Rose's historic career hit number 4,192, breaking Ty Cobb's all-time major league record, on Sept. 11, 1985. Tom Browning pitched the first perfect game in team history on Sept. 16, 1988 at Riverfront. Third baseman Chris Sabo earned National League Rookie of the Year honors in '88.

After finishing second in the NL West four consecutive years in the late 1980s (1985-88), the Reds returned to championship form in record-setting fashion in 1990. New manager Lou Piniella guided them to their first Western Div. title since 1979 and their first National League pennant and World Series crown since 1976. New general manager Bob Quinn was named 1990 Major League Executive of the Year by The Sporting News.

The "wire-to-wire" Reds won their first nine games in 1990 — setting a team record for consecutive wins at the start of a season — and went on to become the first NL team to stay in first place every day of a 162-game season.

The Reds defeated Pittsburgh in a thrilling League Championship Series, then stunned the powerful Oakland Athletics with a four-game World Series sweep.

1996 Reds' Broadcasters

Marty Brennaman

Joe Nuxhall

George Grande

Chris Welsh

Marty Brennaman and Joe Nuxhall return for their 23rd season together on the Reds' Radio Network. The Reds Radio Network is one of the largest in professional sports, with affiliates in seven states. The flagship station is WLW (AM 700) in Cincinnati. All regular season games are aired on WLW.

Brennaman, who also call play-by-play for Reds' broadcasts on SportsChannel, is a 31-year veteran of the broadcast business. Since making his Reds' debut in February of 1974, Marty has been named SportsCaster-of-the-Year in Ohio 10 times after earning that honor four times in Virginia. His son, Thom, who spent the past six seasons as broadcaster with the Chicago Cubs, was named in December as the future voice of the Arizona Diamondbacks.

Nuxhall, a former Cincinnati pitcher and a member of the Reds' Hall of Fame, is in his 30th year as a Reds announcer. Joe pitched for 16 years in the big leagues (1944, 1952-66), including 15 years with the Reds. In 1944, Joe became the youngest player ever to appear in the big leagues, at the age of 15 - a record that still stands today.

An avid golfer, Joe began his broadcasting career with the Reds in 1967.

For the next three seasons, SportsChannel will hold the exclusive local cable and broadcast rights for Cincinnati Reds baseball. SportsChannel Ohio, managed by Rainbow Programming Holdings, Inc., is part of SportsChannel Regional Network, which has additional services in Chicago, New York, Florida, New England, San Francisco and Philadelphia, and is also affiliated with Prime SportsChannel Networks. SportsChannel will team with local television station WSTR (channel 64) in Cincinnati for broadcasts. Combined, SportsChannel and WSTR will bring Reds' fans in Cincinnati 95 regular season games per season.

Veteran sportscasters George Grande, who began broadcasting professional baseball in 1970, and former big league pitcher Chris Welsh, will return for their fourth season together as the on-air talent for all SportsChannel and WTSR telecasts.

Grande, a 28-year veteran of the broadcasting business, has been the play-by-play voice of the Reds on SportsChannel since 1993. A native of New Haven, Connecticut, George has covered major league baseball since 1989. He also anchored the first-ever ESPN SportsCenter broadcast on September 7, 1979.

Welsh, who pitched in the big leagues from 1981-83, and 1985-86 with the Padres, Expos, Rangers and Reds, compiled an overall record of 22-31 with a 4.45 ERA in 122 games. Chris made his debut with SportsChannel in 1994. The 40-year-old native of Wilmington, Delaware also works for SportsChannel Florida broadcasting University of South Florida baseball games.

Rules of Interest

Calculating the "Magic Number" --Determine the number of games to be played by the team in the lead. Add one to that number. Subtract from that figure the number of games ahead in the loss column from the closest opponent.

Determining Earned Run Average --Multiply earned runs by nine, then divide total by innings pitched.

Determining Batting Average --Divide total hits by total at-bats.

Determining Slugging Percentage --Divide the total bases of all safe hits by the total number of at-bats.

Determining On Base Percentage --Divide Hits + Walks + Hit By Pitch, by At-Bats + Walks + Hit By Pitch + Sac Flies.

Determining Fielding Average --Divide the total putouts and assists by the total of putouts, assists and errors.

Winning Pitcher --The starting pitcher will be credited with the win only if the pitcher has pitched at least five complete innings and his team not only is in the lead when he is replaced, but remains in the lead the remainder of the game. EXCEPTION: The "must pitch five complete innings" rule in respect to the starting pitcher, shall be in effect for all games of six or more innings. In a five-inning game, credit the starting pitcher with a game won only if he has pitched at least four complete innings and his team not only is in the lead when he is replaced, but remains in the lead the remainder of the game. When the starting pitcher does not meet the preceding criteria and more than one relief pitcher is used, the victory shall be awarded on the following basis:

- (1) When, during the tenure of the starting pitcher, the winning team assumes the lead and maintains it to the finish of the game, credit the victory to the relief pitcher judged by the official scorer to have been the most effective.
- (2) Whenever the score is tied, the game becomes a new contest insofar as the winning and losing pitcher is concerned.
- (3) Once the opposing team assumes the lead, all pitchers who have pitched up to that point are excluded from being credited with the victory except the current pitcher.
- (4) The winning relief pitcher shall be the one who is the pitcher of record when his team assumes the lead and maintains it to the finish of the game. EXCEPTION: Do not credit a victory to a relief pitcher who is ineffective in a brief appearance, when a succeeding relief pitcher pitches effectively in helping his team maintain the lead. In such cases, credit the succeeding relief pitcher with the victory.

Earning a Save --Credit a pitcher with a save when he meets all of the following conditions:

- (1) He is the pitcher that finishes the game won by his team.
- (2) He is not the winning pitcher.
- (3) He qualifies under one of the following conditions:
 - (a) He enters the game with a lead of no more than three runs and pitches for at least one inning, or
 - (b) He enters the game, regardless of the count, with the potential tying run either on base, at bat, or on deck (that is, the potential tying run is either already on base or is one of the first two batters he faces): or
 - (c) He pitches effectively for at least three innings.

Assists --An assist shall be credited to each fielder who throws or deflects a batted or thrown ball in such a way that a putout results, or would have resulted except for a subsequent error by any fielder. Only one assist and no more shall be credited to each fielder who throws or deflects the ball in a run-down play which results in a putout, or would have resulted in a putout, except for a subsequent error.

Consecutive Game Hitting Streak --A consecutive game hitting streak shall not be terminated if the player's plate appearance(s) result in a base on balls, hit batter, defensive interference or sacrifice bunt. The streak shall terminate if the player has a sac fly and no hit.

Consecutive Game Playing Streak --A consecutive game playing streak shall be extended if the player plays one-half inning on defense or if he completes a time at bat by reaching base or being put out. A pinch-running appearance shall not extend the streak. If a player is ejected from the game by an umpire before he can comply with the requirement of this rule, his streak shall continue.

Consecutive Hitting Streaks --A consecutive hitting streak shall not be terminated if the plate appearance results in a base on balls, hit batter, defensive interference or a sac bunt. A sac fly shall terminate the streak.

Suspended Games --All performance in the completion of a suspended game shall be considered as occurring on the original date of the game.

Rain Delays --Once a game has been temporarily suspended by rain, NL umpires have been instructed to wait at least one hour and 15 minutes before calling the game. They shall wait at least 45 minutes for a second suspension and 30 minutes for all subsequent suspensions.

National League Curfew --There is no curfew in the National League. The game is in the hands of the umpires once it has started.

Major League Year --172 days constitutes a full year in the major leagues.

Rookie Status At The Major League Level --Not more than 130 at bats or 50 innings pitched in the major leagues during a previous season or seasons, nor more than 45 days on a major league roster during the major league 25-player limit (excluding time in the military service).
